STATEMENT OF SANJAY SATISH SHAH

Sir:

I am Sanjay Satish Shah listed on the above referenced patent application as the sole inventor.

I reviewed this patent application with Benjamin Siebenberg, and after reviewing the same discussed with him how the subject design came to be developed. It is my recollection that Benjamin Siebenberg and I jointly developed the design which is the subject of the current pending patent application.

Through inadvertent error, I instructed my attorney to file the patent application with my name as sole inventor, and I recognize that the collaborative work between Mr. Siebenberg and myself is what led to the development of the design which is the subject pending patent application.

In view of the above, I join in the request that Benjamin Siebenberg be added as a co-inventor of the above-identified patent application.

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under 18 USC §1001, and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issued thereon.

STATEMENT OF BENJAMIN SIEBENBERG

Sir:

I learned that Sanjay Satish Shah had filed a patent application for the above captioned design. This information came from discussions with Mr. Shah.

I reviewed the subject design patent application, and Mr. Shah and I reviewed the events which led to the development of the design. He and I realized that we collaborated in the development of this design and that we are both co-inventors and that he inadvertently and without deceptive intent omitted me and now wants me to be added.

My being omitted was without deceptive intent.

We desire that the inventorship of the above patent application be changed to reflect the co-inventorship.

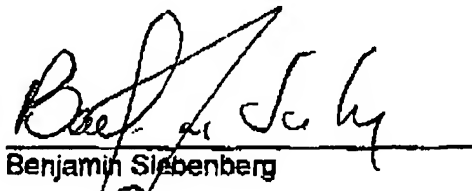

I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under 18 USC §1001 and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issued thereon.
